Belong to ACEC and the*

Council of American Mechanical & Electrical Engineers

The Council of American Mechanical and Electrical Engineers (CAMEE) is a national association of mechanical/electrical engineering firms that provides a forum for members to improve the quality of engineering through enhancement of business practices, reduced professional liability exposure and increased profitability.

Our mission is to provide information and programs that address the unique needs of M/E firm to help them succeed today and into the future.

Benefits of CAMEE Membership

- ⇒ Free access to contracts, including the Multi Prime Contract, to help M/E firms contract directly with a facility's owner. For firms that prefer direct contact with the owner/client, this contract is made to order.
- ⇒ Free access to tools to strengthen your bottom line. The Practice Procedures for M/Es is ACEC's premier business practice tool for Mechanical/Electrical firms and includes useful tips from successful ACEC M/E firms. Written by CAMEE for M/Es, this book helps firms address marketing, financial, client management and other common business management issues.
- ⇒ Quarterly newsletter reviewing CAMEE accomplishments, highlighting opportunities, and reviewing current industry news.
- ⇒ Up-to-date guidelines on LEED Certification and green building initiatives
- ⇒ Annual CAMEE Briefing meetings at ACEC's Fall Conference and Annual Convention dedicated to Best Practice M/E engineering.
- ⇒ Free downloads of all CAMEE documents 24/7.

CAMEE Milestones

- ⇒ Completed a practices procedures manual for the M/E firm.
- ⇒ Developed convention sessions on LEED and BIM for CAMEE members.
- ⇒ Established relationships with ASHRAE and NASFA.
- ⇒ Developed a fee calculation document for M/E members.
