Presentation of 2017-2018 Scholarship Winners & Guest Speaker Allan Fung, Mayor, City or Cranston and 2018 Republican Candidate for Governor

Join ACEC-Rhode Island as Mayor Allan Fung, 2018 Republican Candidate for Governor and current Mayor of Cranston, discusses his vision for the future of Rhode Island.

In 2008, Fung was the first Asian-American Mayor elected in the state’s history. During his tenure, he has led Cranston to its highest bond rating in over two decades and for the past three consecutive years, 24/7 Wall Street named the community as one of the Top 50 Best Cities to Live in America.

Mayor Fung increased business development by over $66 million and helped bring in over 2,200 new jobs. He reduced the city’s operational expenses by implementing innovative expense savings strategies and was the first Mayor in the state to move major unions into defined contribution retirement plans. Mayor Fung also successfully negotiated reforms with public safety retirees and unions to save over $6 million annually and stabilized the city’s severely underfunded local pension system.

Mayor Fung served on the RI Municipal Pension Study Commission and was also part of the 2011 RI Pension Advisory Group that recommended historic reforms to the troubled state pension system. He is Past President of the RI League of Cities and Towns and former Chairman of the RI Governor’s Insurance Council. Mayor Fung is currently a member of the Republican National Committee’s Asian Pacific American Advisory Committee and is also the Honorary Board Chairman of the RI Association of Chinese Americans.

Before becoming Mayor, he was Government Relations Counsel for MetLife, a criminal prosecutor in the RI Department of Attorney General, and a litigation associate with Mandell, Schwartz & Boisclair.
